PRECISION BEYOND REPLACEMENT

SHOOTER USER MANUAL

Choose your relay.

Google sign-in. Confirm your entries. Book your place.

Start at the shooter website

kpxrelayselection.kapstudios10.workers.dev

Have your competitor number and access to your Google account ready. Use the shooter homepage, not the administrator page.

1 Sign in

Use your own Google email ID.

2 Find your record

Enter your competitor number.

3 Confirm it is you

Check your own name and events.

4 Wait for approval

The organizer verifies your identity.

5 Choose your own relay

Select your match, date and time.

6 Save confirmation

Keep your relay and lane details.

Screens in this guide are illustrations of the current app. Names, dates, relay IDs and lanes shown are examples. Use the details in your own confirmed booking.

STEP 1 OF 5

Sign in with Google

Use the same Google account whenever you return.

1 Open the shooter website

Scan the QR code on page 1 or open the website link in your browser.

2 Tap Continue with Google

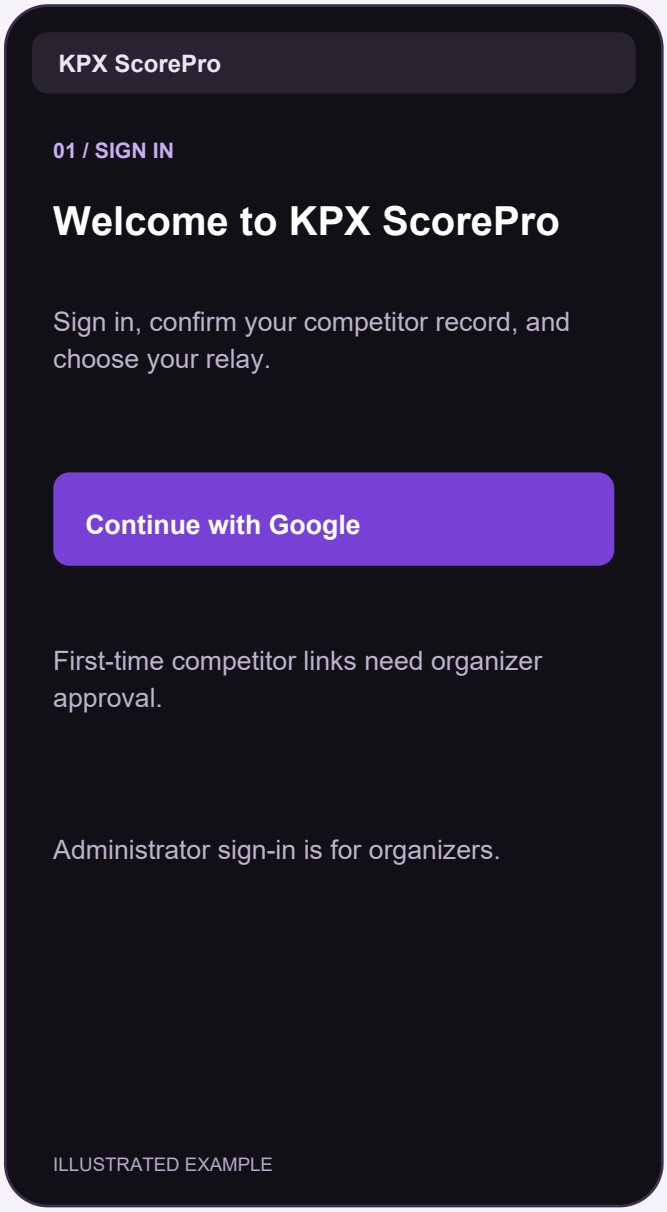

Choose the Google account whose email you want linked to your competitor record.

3 Complete Google sign-in

Enter your Google details only on Google's sign-in screen. Return to KPX ScorePro when sign-in finishes.

4 Keep that account

The app collects your email after sign-in. You do not need to have supplied it with the original entry.

Use the shooter portal

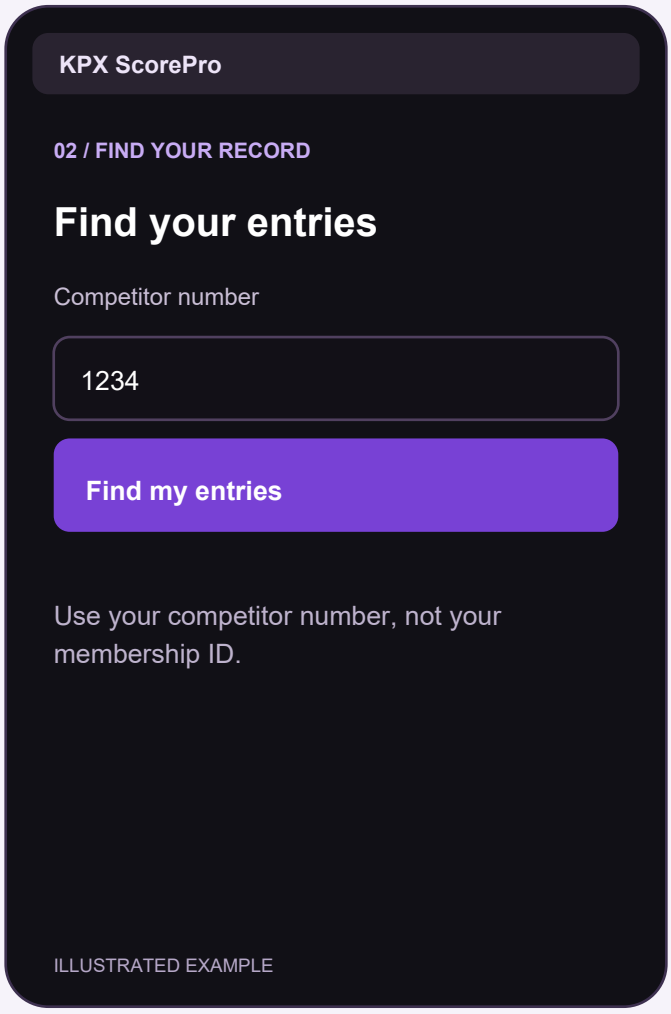

Shooters use Google sign-in. The separate administrator email/password page is for organizers. Do not share your Google password with anyone.

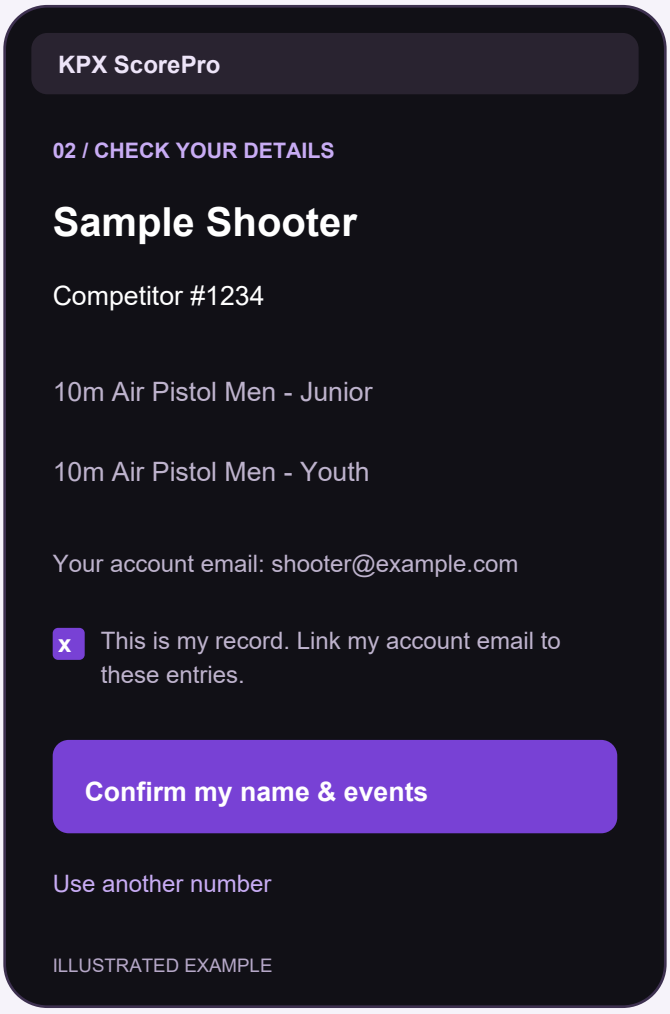

STEP 2 OF 5

Confirm your competitor record

Check the name and every event before linking your email.

Enter the competitor number from your entry record or competitor card. Then review the details returned by the app.

1 Find your record

Type the number and tap Find my entries.

2 Confirm that you are this athlete

Verify that the competitor number, name and events are yours before confirming. Only then tick the box and tap Confirm my name & events. Do not confirm another athlete's record.

STEP 3 OF 5

Wait for organizer approval

Email association and relay booking are separate steps.

1 Your email is saved

Confirming your record submits the email-to-competitor link. It does not reserve a lane.

2 Identity check before approval

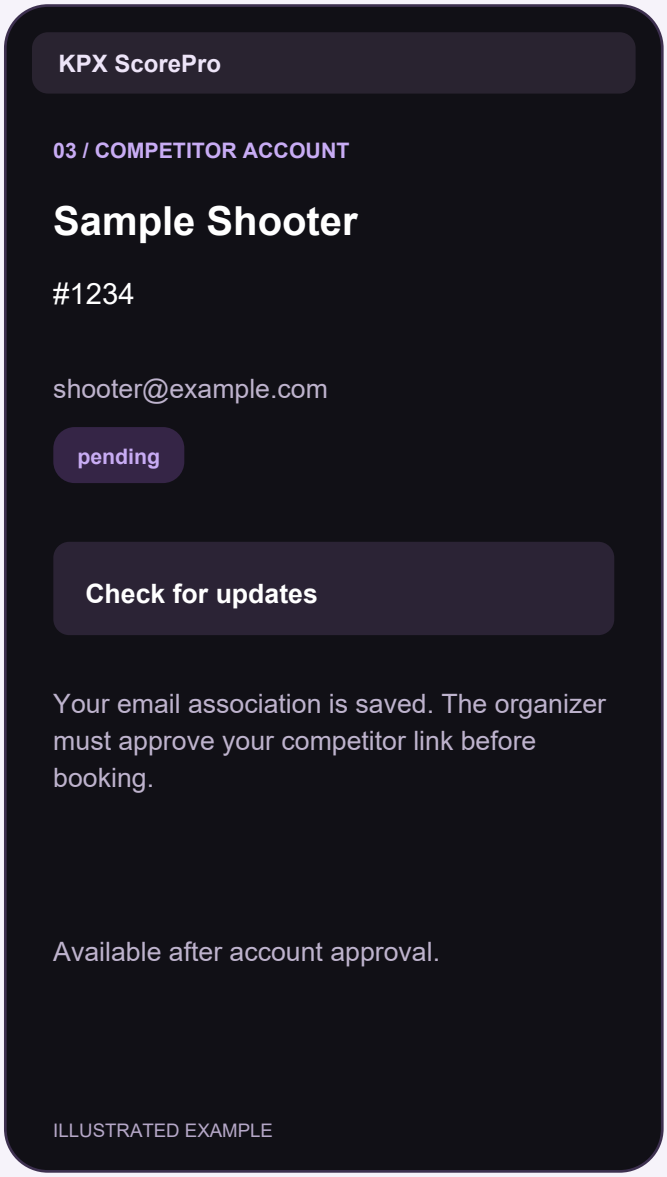

A first-time link stays pending. The organizer must confirm that you are the athlete shown before approving your email link. Contact the registration desk or your club if needed.

3 Check for updates

Tap Check for updates to see whether approval has been granted. There is no approval-time guarantee or automatic notification in this version.

4 Return with the same account

If you leave, open the homepage and sign in with the same Google account again.

One email ID can link to only one athlete

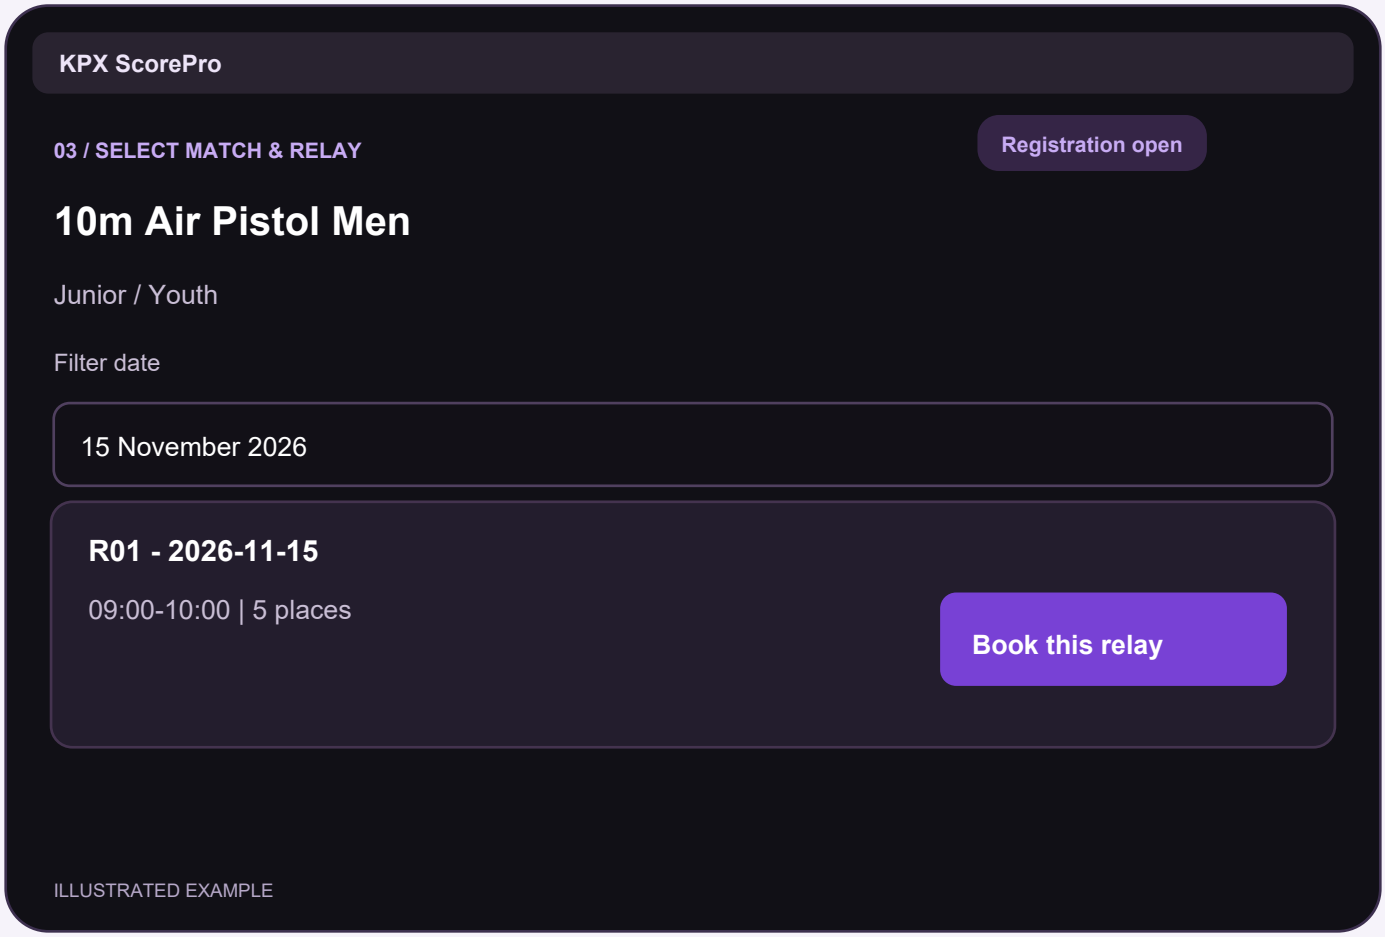

Use your own email ID for your own athlete profile. The same email ID cannot be linked to multiple athletes. Confirm that the displayed athlete is you before submitting the link for approval.

STEP 4 OF 5

Choose your match and relay

Air Pistol opens first. Air Rifle opens when announced.

Athletes must select their own relay. After approval, choose an eligible open match, then pick your own date and relay time.

1 Check the actual match

Rifle and pistol are different matches, even at the same distance. Your eligible categories may appear together under one actual match.

2 Select your own date and relay

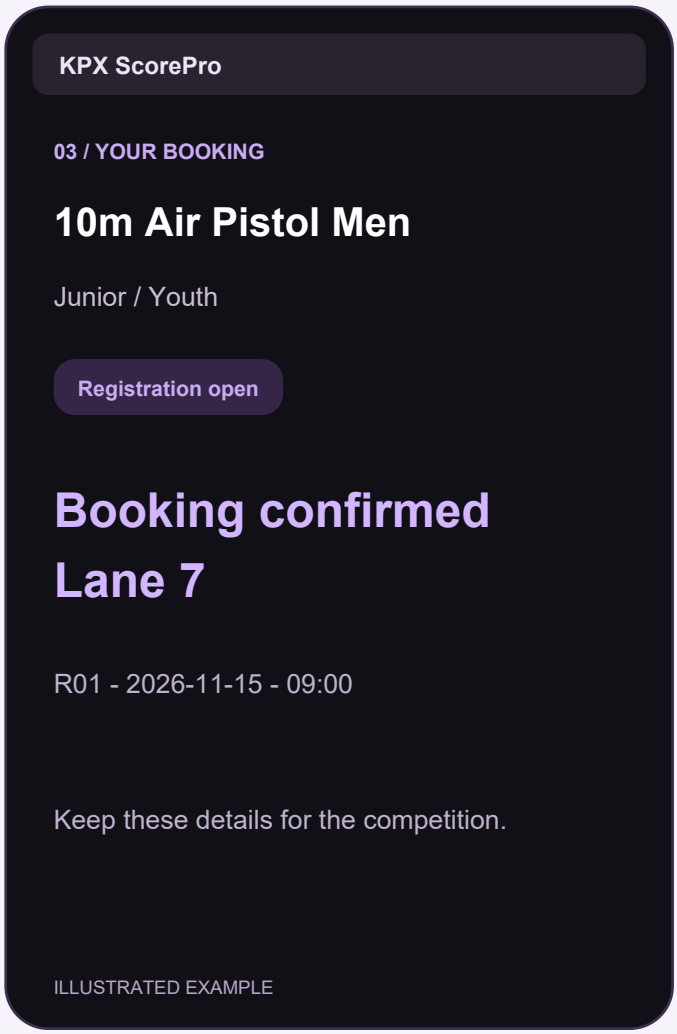

Use Filter date and choose the relay time yourself. Then tap Book this relay. The system does not choose a relay for you. Availability shown is not a reservation.

If you see "Not yet open" or "Relays have not been published yet", wait for the organizer's announcement. Sample dates and times above are not your event schedule.

STEP 5 OF 5

Keep your booking confirmation

A booking is complete only when confirmation appears.

1 Check confirmation

Look for Booking confirmed and your lane number.

2 Save the details

Take a screenshot. Keep the match, date, relay ID, time and lane number.

3 Recheck your booking

You can return using the same Google account to view the saved confirmation.

One booking per actual match

If Youth and Junior entries share one actual match, they share one booking. You cannot book a second relay for that same match, even on another date.

You choose the relay; the system assigns the lane

Select your own relay. The app then assigns an available lane, skipping reserved lanes. For cancellation, correction or relay changes, contact the organizer.

HELP AND QUICK REFERENCE

If something stops your booking

Keep the error message and contact the organizer when needed.

Competitor not found

Check the number against your competitor card. If it is correct, ask the organizer to check the imported entry.

Wrong name, missing events or already linked

Do not confirm a record that is not yours. Ask the organizer to correct the entry or review the account link.

Pending / registration closed / no relays

Check for updates. Booking requires organizer approval, an open discipline and published relays.

Relay full or no unreserved lane available

The remaining places may have changed. Refresh and select another available relay.

Already booked / relay overlaps an existing booking

View your existing confirmation. One actual match gets one booking. For another match, choose a non-overlapping time.

Request took too long or sign-in expired

Refresh and check for a saved confirmation before trying again. If asked, sign in again using the same Google account.

When asking for help: send your competitor number, match, selected relay and the exact error or a screenshot. Never send your password. This guide does not publish a support phone number; use the contact provided by your event organizer.

Quick checklist

Google sign-in - competitor number - check name/events - confirm email link - organizer approval - open match/date/relay - booking confirmation.
